Word of Life

“There is an everyday heroism, made up of gestures of sharing, big or small, which build up an authentic culture of life... Part of this daily heroism is also the silent but effective and eloquent witness of all those ‘brave mothers who devote themselves to their own family without reserve, who suffer in giving birth to their children and who are ready to make any effort, to face any sacrifice, in order to pass on to them the best of themselves’ ... We thank you, heroic mothers, for your invincible love! We thank you for your intrepid trust in God and in his love. We thank you for the sacrifice of your life” (The Gospel of Life 86).

Rejoice and Keep Going

This Laetare Sunday—much like Gaudete Sunday of Advent—means that we’ve already reached the halfway point of the season on our way towards Easter. Rose vestments are often used to highlight this. The name comes from the first word of the Entrance Antiphon, which is a command telling us to “Rejoice!” Laetare and Gaudete are fairly synonymous in that respect.

Having this note of joy halfway through the 40 days of Lent reminds me of a sermon from St. Augustine where he uses the analogy of workers in a field who sing as they work. Singing the praises of God in the midst of our toil should make our work seem lighter. The song we sing while still on this earthly pilgrimage amidst trials and temptations does not yet reach the full joy of what the Angels and Saints sing in the security of heaven, but it refreshes us with the strength that comes from God. “So, then, my brothers, let us sing now, not in order to enjoy a life of leisure, but in order to lighten our labors. You should sing as wayfarers do—sing, but continue your journey.” Rejoice, and keep going.

This weekend also marks our 40 Hours Devotion, the solemn Exposition of Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament, at St Augustine in Bowdle. The first weekend of April will be Hoven’s turn. I hope you will take the opportunity at some point on these weekends at least to stop into the church and spend a few moments with Jesus, even if you aren’t able to commit to a whole hour. It is a great comfort to His most Sacred Heart, amidst the sea of so many who are indifferent to Christ and His Eucharistic Presence, even as He was grieved that His own chosen Apostles failed to stay awake and watch with Him during His great Agony in the Garden of Gethsamane.

This Thursday, I will be at the Cathedral in Sioux Falls for the Chrism Mass, in which the Bishop consecrates and blesses the holy oils that are used throughout the diocese for Baptisms, Confirmations, Anointings of the Sick. We also renew together the priestly promises we made at our ordination. The normal day for the Chrism Mass is actually Holy Thursday, when Christ instituted the Eucharist and the Holy Priesthood, but in dioceses that are as geographically large are ours, it is more typical to anticipate the Chrism Mass some time earlier during Lent. I’ll be taking some days off this week to make the travel time more worthwhile. While I’m away, remember to rejoice and keep going.
