Word of Life

“There is an everyday heroism, made up of gestures of sharing, big or small, which build up and authentic culture of life... Part of this daily heroism is also the silent but effective and eloquent witness of all those ‘brave mothers who devote themselves to their own family without reserve, who suffer in giving birth to their children and who are ready to make any effort, to face any sacrifice, in order to pass on to them the best of themselves’... We thank you, heroic mothers, for your invincible love! We thank you for your intrepid trust in God and in his love. We thank you for the sacrifice of your life” (The Gospel of life 86).

Passiontide

Just as the season of Advent has two phases—the first being more focused on Christ’s return at the Final Judgment, and the second (starting around December 17) focusing on His Nativity in Bethlehem—Lent also has two phases. Since the change in the Mass readings after the Second Vatican Council, the special character of each part of Lent may be less apparent, but certain practices still persist. The most conspicuous is the veiling of crosses, statues, and other images of Saints inside the church (except the Stations of the Cross) from this 5th Sunday of Lent until the sol-emn Adoration of the Cross on Good Friday or until Holy Saturday.

This practice of veiling sacred images alludes to the Gospel that used to be proclaimed every year on this Sunday, when Jesus told the crowds, “Before Abraham was, I AM.” In response to this clear declaration of His divinity—a reference to the mysterious Name revealed to Moses on Mt. Sinai: I AM WHO AM—they picked up stones to put Jesus to death for such "blasphemy." But Jesus “hid Himself” and went away. Images of Saints are veiled as well be-cause it was thought improper for the servants to appear in the open while their Master hid away until His Passion.

Another explanation for the veiling of images is that as we witness the incredible suffering and death of Jesus in the frailty of our humanity, His divinity is in some sense veiled from us, difficult to discern, as He sweats blood, is scourged beyond recognition, and breathes His last upon the Cross. We offer the small penance of depriving our eyes of the beauty of sacred images for a short time, in reparation for the many sins we commit with our eyes and with our other members, our sins that led Jesus to such a painful death for us. The solemn “revelation,” unveiling of the Holy Cross is part of the Good Friday liturgy.

These final two weeks of Lent, called Passiontide, focus more specifically on the events of Christ’s Passion and
